sach; but, in fact, not one-half of these twelve delegates were present at the convention. It will be seen that this county, from which came the worthy President of the convention, fails to send a single delegate elected to represent four clubs, which are credited with having eight, five, four and four delegates respectively, and at least aix or eight other delegates take so little interest in the convention that they not only fail to attend, but also fail to appoint proxies.

And so forth.

Much space is taken up by "Auti-Monopolist" to ventilate the grievances of Mr. Kinney, who appears to have emerged from the convention out and injured by a large majority. In fact, that body appears to have seated itself to the fact of the convention out and injured by a large majority. All who are beadd, all who are becoming baild, all who are toubled with dadruff, or itching of the scalp; should use Benton's Hair Grower. Eighty per cent. of those using it have grown hair. It never fails to stop the hair sometimes falls off in a short time, and although the person may have remained bald for years, if you use Benton's Hair Grower according to directions you are sure of a growth of hair. In hundreds of cases we have produced a good growth of hair on those who have been baid and glazed for years. We have tally substantiated the following facts:

We grow hair in eighty cases out of a hundred, no matter how long baid.

Unlike other preparations, it contains no sugar of lead, or vegetable or mineral polsons.

The too previous question was "spring upon the convention repeatedly," says "A. Monopolist," "Parliamentary rules were drawn very closely. The proceedings were bristling with points of order, and in nine cases out of ten they were raised by a single individual, until the few farmers who were in attendance began to inquire whether or not they were not attending a convention composed of lawyers rather than of farmers interested in irrigation.

gates can be restricted. They can be required to pledge themselves to attend, and failing to do this, the power of appointing proxies can be vested in the county committee, and it in turn can be limited to voters of the county in its choice of proxies. The loose proxy sys em has developed great abuses. Frequently men who could never be elected as delegates find little difficulty in obtaining a proxy from some other county. The power to bestow a proxy should not be given to any man who allows himself to be elected a delegate with us.

He asserts that Mr. Shorb, who presided at the convention, held ten proxies—in fact, all the proxies of two irrigation clubs—the Pasadena club and driving, cruel, selfish and sensual oligarchy. And now in a feeling of mean, pittful revenge, he is seeking to perpetuate in the youth of the South a hostile and disloyal feeling towards that Union that he sought in vain to destroy. ESCONDIDO

The Paradise of Southern California! The Paradise of Southern California!

The new Escondide Hotel, containing forty-five rooms, is now open by Thomas Elley. The famous Escondide tract contains 12,814 acres of the most besutiful and fartile land in Southern California and the rich Escondide gold mines. It is located 85 miles north of the city and harbor of Nan Diego and 12 miles east of the California Scottern Railread High mountains protect the grand valley from wind and og. The altitude is 700 feet above see-level and distant from ocean 12 to 16 miles. The water supply is abundant and crops have never failed. Bearing orchards and vineyards attest the ruth of the assertion that irrigation is not necessary. Besides being labories and expensive rrigation tends to produce malaris and consequent sickness. The Escondide raisins are unsurpassed by any produced in the world. Rev. S. W. O. Farmsworth, Freiding Eldes M. E. Church, Judge R. M. Widney, Rev. A. M. Hough and D. O. Millmore, all prominent residents of Los Angales, recently visited Escondide to choose a site for the college, and appressed themselves as delighted with its unrivalled advantages. By permission we refer to these gentiemen for confirmation of the truth of any statements made concerning the anequalled climate and soil of Escondide—"the sun-kissed vals of the south."

Fertile soili No brigation: Equable climatel cad the following opinion of Secondido from Gen. Staart Stanley, late of Her Majesty: India Service: "For a happy combination of climate, soil and seenery, united to a commanding commercial situat on, Escondido tands wholly unrivalled in that belt of sunshine extending from Los angeles to the fronter of Mexico." Town lots and lands now on sale. For further informaticn and copy of the Escondide Times, address THOMAS E. BETCALEY, 36% N. Spring st., Los Angeles, Oal.
